Curculionid beetles are the largest superfamily of Coleoptera. In comparison with adjacent regions (Siberia, Kazakhstan) the fauna of weevils of Novosibirsk province is most full revealed. Four hundred twelve species was listed from Novosibirsk province by Legalov and Opanassenko in 2000 [1]. In 2002-2008 seven species (Temnocerus subglaber (Desbrochers des Loges, 1897), Taphrotopium sulcifrons (Herbst, 1797), Squamapion vicinum (Kirby, 1908), Perapion violaceum (Kirby, 1808), Dieckmanniellus nitidulus (Gyllenhal, 1838), Sibinia hopffgarteni Tournier, 1873, and Trachyphloeus heymesi Huberthal, 1934) was recorded from here [2-6]. For last years the new materials, allowing widening the list of Curculionid beetles of Novosibirsk province have been collected. Specimens are kept in the Siberian zoological museum, Institute of Animal Systematics and Ecology, Novosibirsk (SZMN) and the Zoological museum of Moscow State University, Moscow (ZMUM). A list of additional species of the weevils of Novosibirsk province is given below.
